

OCTOBER IS BULLYING PREVENTION MONTH

Anti-Bullying Collaboration Community Action

Please join us during the month of October by taking strategic steps to highlight bullying prevention programs and services offered by your agency in our schools and community.

According to the Oklahoma State Department of Education, 5,278 students KG-12 were bullied at school during the 2014-2015 school year.

In 2015, 14% of high school students were bullied online (OK Youth Risk Behavior Survey).

No child should have to live in fear of being bullied at school, online, or elsewhere.

Get Involved!

- Choose a bullying prevention week for your agency to highlight programs and services via website and social-media outlets using the hashtag: #preventbullyingtulsa
- Choose a bullying prevention day, wear a yellow shirt, and talk with the children, teens, and parents you serve about bullying prevention and reporting
- Talk with parents about non-violent intervention strategies for children who experience bullying
- Know how to report bullying at school and online
- Discuss social-emotional learning concepts: self-awareness and management, responsible decision-making, relationship skills, and social-awareness as prevention strategies
- Review or develop agency policies and procedures about bullying in the workplace
